

Working in a Congressional office as an intern is an excellent opportunity to learn about public policy and government while gaining practical office experience. Internships are available in both the Stockton and Pleasanton district offices, as well as in the Washington, D.C. office.

In the Washington, D.C. office, responsibilities include attending Congressional briefings, giving tours of the Capitol, responding to constituent inquiries, and helping process tour and flag requests. The responsibilities of interns in the Stockton and Pleasanton offices include researching constituent inquiries, helping staff with casework, and drafting correspondence. Interns in all offices assist with answering phones, distributing incoming mail, data entry and general office duties.

Application Process

Applications are accepted on an ongoing basis throughout the year from college and post-graduate students. Applications from high school students are considered on a case-by-case basis for internships in the Stockton and Pleasanton offices. Priority is given to residents of California's 11th District, although all interested students are encouraged to apply. Internships are unpaid, although my staff is happy to assist students participating in programs that offer school credit.

To apply, mail or fax a cover letter and resume to the office where you are seeking an internship position.
